

Exactech Presents at Orthopedic Financial Conference, Opens Exhibit at AAOS

Conference Held in Conjunction With the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons

Gainesville, FL, March 21, 2006 -- Exactech (Nasdaq: EXAC), a developer and producer of bone and joint restoration products including orthopaedic implants and biologic materials, presented today at the First Albany Capital Small-Cap Orthopedic Conference held in conjunction with the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons (AAOS) being held all week in Chicago.

The First Albany conference brought together 28 small-cap orthopaedic companies, private and public, which presented throughout the day. Chairman and CEO Dr. William Petty gave the Exactech presentation.

Exactech's presentation at the First Albany conference preceded the opening of Exactech's exhibit at AAOS, which features the record number of new products the company launched in the past year. The newly expanded exhibit includes surgical skills laboratories to provide surgeons hands-on experience with the Novation™ hip system, Equinoxe™ shoulder system and recent expansions to the Optetrak® knee system including a rotating bearing knee (available outside the U.S.), low-profile instrumentation and new navigation support. Exactech's wide range of biologic solutions for bone repair will also be demonstrated.
